Volume 1, Number 10, 1965

An amendment of the University Act in the Spring of 1964 called for separate General Faculty Councils at the Edmonton and Calgary campuses, created a Coordinating Council, allowed for a President of the University of Alberta at Calgary, and altered, to some extent, the powers of some of the other University councils. The following is a general outline of the duties entrusted to the General Faculty Councils, the Coordinating Council, the Deans' Councils, Faculty Councils, and their memberships.

General Faculty Council

The General Faculty Council at Edmonton generally meets on the last Monday of every month during the winter session and makes decisions on courses of study, recommends degrees, arranges the University time-table, provides for the preparation and publication of the University Calendar, hears appeals by students, and recommends to the Board of Governors the establishment of faculties, departments, chairs and courses of instruction. For instance, items included on the agenda for the forthcoming January meeting include a report by the Semester Committee which is studying different divided year systems, new courses and Calendar changes, and the 1965 - 66 academic schedule.

General Faculty Council, or GFC, as it is commonly called, is composed of the President who acts as Chairman, the Vice-President, the Deans and full professors, the Registrar who serves as Secretary, the Librarian, the Director of the Department of Extension, and other heads of departments not already included in this list making the total Edmonton membership approximately 145. The Calgary GFC is similarly made up of corresponding Calgary officers with approximately 35 members.

Coordinating Council

The Coordinating Council held its first meeting July 13, 1964 at which time President Johns was elected Chairman. Other members of the Council are designated as the President of the University of Alberta at Calgary, the Vice-President, the Deans of all faculties and two other members who are nominated by GFC, Calgary. Professor George Samuel, Administrator of Professional examinations, serves as secretary.

The Coordinating Council recommends to the Board of Governors the affiliation of any institution or college in the Province, arranges with various professional societies such as the Law Society of Alberta, The Institute of Chartered Accountants of Alberta, the Alberta Dental Association, etc. for the conducting of professional examinations, considers programs of graduate study and makes recommendations to either or both GFCs and considers any other matter of academic concern which would be assisted by the cooperative decisions of both General Faculty Councils.

Deans' Council

The Deans' Council consisting of the President and all the Deans, advises the President on any matters he wishes to bring before it. It is also the executive body for the GFC, Edmonton, and has responsibility for the day-to-day supervision of student discipline. The Provost is Secretary. The Directors of Schools are non-voting members. A similarly constituted Deans' Council now exists on the Calgary campus.

Faculty Council

Each faculty has a Council consisting of the President, the Dean, the professors and associate professors, other members of the faculty teaching staff as determined by the Board of Governors and a representative of each of the appropriate professional societies associated with the University. The Registrar is also an ex-officio member of all faculty councils. In general, faculty councils discuss courses of study, examinations, student appeals, and make recommendations to GFC.

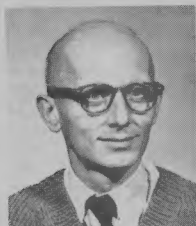

Committee to Review the University Act

The whole structure of the University government is currently under detailed study by the Committee to Review the University Act which recently engaged the services of a firm of University consultants who have advised on similar studies at the Universities of Harvard, Yale, Columbia, California and others. Written submissions from interested persons on the subject of university organizations and government will be received by the Committee. They should be addressed to: Mr. Harold Hawes, c/o Faculty of Graduate Studies.

the Department of Radiology, University Hospital, will be placed in the second Westinghouse Time Capsule and buried 50 feet underground at the site of the New York World's Fair. The six-page paper entitled "The Mechanism Underlying the Response of Polycythemia Rubra Vera to Therapy with Radioactive Phosphorus" was one of a few Canadian selections for the capsule. The capsule contents were chosen by 14 American authorities including two Nobel prize winners to mark man's progress since the last capsule was buried in 1938. They also include pieces of the first atomic reactor, and of the Mercury spacecraft, Aurora 7, as well as microfilm of historic documents such as Einstein's 1939 letter to President Roosevelt alerting him to the dawn of the atomic age, the order to drop the first atomic bomb, and the Charter of the United Nations. Records of the location and contents of the capsule are being placed in libraries throughout the world in the hope that 5,000 years from now man will unearth the capsule.

Radiologist Resigns to take New Post

After 18 years of service with the Faculty of Medicine and the University of Alberta Hospital, DR. H. E. DUGGAN, Professor of Radiology and Director of the Department of Radiology at the University Hospital, has announced his resignation to take up the post as Director of the Department of Radiology at the new Foothills Hospital in Calgary.

Dr. Duggan, a medical graduate of the University of Alberta, has made many contributions to the education of medical students, X-ray technicians and other para-medical personnel related to the field of Radiology. His particular interest has been radio-therapy and radioactive isotopes and his work in the latter field has been recognized both nationally and internationally.

In addition to his duties within the Faculty of Medicine, Dr. Duggan has also served as Chairman of the Committee on Medical Education of the Canadian Medical Association (Alberta Division) for several years and has contributed a good deal to the Continuing Medical Education Program in the province during his tenure of office. He has held other offices in the profession both in the Edmonton Academy and in the Alberta Division of the Canadian Medical Association.

In the words of Dr. W. C. MacKenzie, Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, "Dr. Duggan has the respect and goodwill of all his colleagues. I am sure they will all wish for him satisfaction and happiness in his new appointment at the Foothills Hospital in Calgary."

University of Alberta Willed Library Collection

Pioneer journalist, Miriam Green Ellis, who died November 19, 1964, named the three prairie Universities as beneficiaries of her $125,830 estate. The University of Alberta is to receive almost all her large library including her collection of newspaper clippings from early pre-province of Alberta days and her diary of a trip down the MacKenzie River in 1922. The Universities of Saskatchewan and Manitoba will receive money to be used for setting up scholarships in agriculture. With the exception of $18,600 in cash and bank accounts, nearly all the estate was in stocks and bonds.

Born in Richville, New York, Mrs. Ellis moved to Canada at the age of six and settled near Athens, Ontario. In 1904 she moved with her parents to Edmonton while it was still in the Northwest Territories and then to Prince Albert, Saskatchewan. She began her writing career with the Prince Albert Herald, then the Regina Post, and the Edmonton Bulletin.

She covered events from the Parliament Buildings to church news, sports and agricultural events. It was the latter she specialized in after leaving the Bulletin. In 1927 she became Staff Correspondent in the West for the Family Herald and Weekly Star and, at the time of her retirement in 1952, was Western Editor. Mrs. Ellis devoted her life to agricultural problems of Western Canada and worked unsparingly for all things which would benefit rural life.

A Question of Values

What do Canadians and Albertans value most? Where do our preferences and values come from? How are they perpetuated? How do these beliefs shape our actions? Is there any absolute and final system of beliefs, or are values relative to the situation?

These are some of the questions which will be discussed during a series of six lectures given by DR. A. M. MARDIROS, Head of the Department of Philosophy, DR. J. R. ROYCE, Head of the Department of Psychology, MR. T. C. POCKLINGTON, Assistant Professor of Political Science, DR. G. NETTLER, Associate Professor of Sociology, DR. B. E. WALKER, Head of the Department of Educational Foundations, and DR. T. A. BURKILL, Visiting Professor of Philosophy of Religion. Sponsored by the Department of Extension, these lectures will be delivered Wednesday evenings beginning February 3 from 8 - 9:30 p.m. in Room V 102, Math-Physics Building. The $10.00 fee will be cut in half for all university employees.

Institute to Expand

A $9,000,000 construction program planned to double the facilities of the SOUTHERN ALBERTA INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY, an affiliated institution to this University, will begin this year. An increasing demand by industry for technicians is the main reason for expansion. The new buildings will provide teaching space for courses in refrigeration and air conditioning, drafting, and architectural, electrical, construction, mechanical and electronic technology. Part of the new space will also be used for an expanded library.

Distinguished Dramatic Author to Speak

A public lecture entitled "Dramatic Literature East and West" with slides, will be delivered January 19 by DR. HENRY WELLS. For many years Dr. Wells has lectured on dramatic literature at Columbia University where he has also served as Curator of the Brander Matthews Dramatic Museum, importing theatrical exhibits from India, Japan and Russia and all the chief European countries. He is secretary-treasurer of the American Society for Theatre Research and Chairman of the Publication Committee of the U.S. Institute for Theatre Technology. His lecture will be delivered at 8:30 p.m. in room 318 of the Old Education Building.
